Fish Sticks Recipe, baked These fish sticks are baked, and don't have all the grease and heavy oil at the bottom of your fryer. They're light and flaky. Just try them and tell me you don't like them. Makes 12 fish sticks. slices frozen fish (soaked, if necessary) salt and pepper pepper and onion (or a mixture of both) butter sliced onions butter and/or cooking oil Mix the first three ingredients together and form into 12 sticks. If you have a bit of extra batter, form the fish sticks and place them on a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 350° for 12 minutes. Dust with salt, pat them dry, and sprinkle with the cut-up sliced onions. Bake for a few more minutes. 1. Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a video conferencing system and more particularly, to a video conferencing system capable of establishing video conferences by simply connecting a portable telephone and a general home television receiver to a video conferencing server with a number of operating terminals as a means for connection to a plurality of users. 2. Description of the Related Art In recent years, video conferencing systems for real-time transmission of video and data between a plurality of places in which video conferences have been held have been proposed. In such
