Interaction of a cardenolide derivative from Borago officinalis with the secretory phospholipases A2 (sPLA2s) in vitro. Recent studies have shown that Borago officinalis L. is a traditional remedy against diabetes and cancer. Its bioactive compound, borogokinin, has been shown to inhibit the activities of the membrane phospholipase A2 (mA-PLA2) and the secretory phospholipase A2 (sPLA2) in vitro. This study shows that, at low micromolar concentrations, borogokinin also inhibits the activities of group VIA sPLA2 from Naja naja (sPLA2-VIA) and a mammalian recombinant sPLA2 (h-sPLA2) in vitro. Borogokinin shows selectivity for sPLA2 enzymes against mA-PLA2. Molecular modelling studies and chirality analyses suggest that borogokinin occupies the same binding site of sPLA2 as the arachidonyl group of arachidonate. The biochemical and pharmacological properties of borogokinin provide a rationale for using it as a lead compound for design of sPLA2 inhibitors with potential therapeutic use. Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) supremo Mayawati on Wednesday said communal forces have started their "race to dethrone" her, and added that she would succeed. "The unholy attempt is on.
