The power pack is connected to the sensor by a cable, and the output of the power pack is connected to a receive section of the electronic device. If the electronic device is equipped with more than one sensor, each sensor has a corresponding power pack. Each power pack has to be plugged into a receptacle of the electronic device, and the power packs may have to be frequently inserted and removed from the electronic device. If several power packs are used and they are inserted and removed frequently, the connectors of the receptacles may be damaged. In addition, the cable between the power packs may be damaged by frequent insertion and removal of the power packs.
